South and Central American News.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The steamer Rising Star from Aspinwall brings $385,000 in specie and California newspapers of February 15th.

South American advices are of little interest. The yellow fever still rages on the lower coast of Peru. The Colombian Congress rejected the proposition to annul the decree banishing Mosquera's sons. The leading journal of Bogota opposed the Darien Canal treaty, and it is said the Congress will reject it, but the arguments against the treaty are very weak and it is evident the main objection is to get all the money possible from the United States.

From Central America comes news that Bueros has been re-elected President of Salvadore, and that the shock of an earthquake was felt in the city of that name on February 2d.

Cabinet Rumors—The Treasury Department Matter—Mr. A. T. Stewart Has Not Yet Withdrawn—He Proposes to Make Himself Eligible Under the Law—The Rush of Office Seekers—Mr. Washburne Assumes His Duties as Secretary of State—Exit Binckley.

WASHINGTON, March 8, 1869.

CABINET MATTERS.

A special to the Philadelphia Telegraph says: In a conversation with Mr. Blaine, the President replied, that as Speaker of the House, and under the circumstances, he (Mr. Blaine) had a right to know. He would, therefore, be frank, and say to him that Mr. Stewart had concluded to resign; that the Massachusetts delegation would withdraw Mr. Hoar, at the latter's request, and that he would appoint Ex-Governor Boutwell as Secretary of the Treasury.

The Boston Transcript publishes the following dispatch: "Late last night Secretary Stewart determined to withdraw, and President Grant sent for Gov. Boutwell and offered him the Treasury Department and he accepted it. Judge Hoar will not, therefore, go into the Cabinet."

THE RUSH FOR APPOINTMENTS.

The applications for positions under the Government received at the Executive office are already overwhelming. In all cases it may be stated they must be made to the Cabinet officer in charge of the Department in which the office is solicited. The President will not consider any such applications until they have passed through the head of the Department to which they pertain. The President will receive official calls at his office each day between ten and twelve o'clock, and after twelve o'clock no one will be admitted, excepting Cabinet officers and those with whom special engagements have been made. Cabinet meetings will be held at twelve o'clock Tuesdays and Fridays. On Tuesday the President's office will be thrown open to general visitors between ten and twelve o'clock.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The subject of the Secretary of the Treasury was mentioned in caucus, but laid over, it being understood that the President will withdraw his recommendation for the repeal of the Treasury Department law, in which case Mr. Stewart will necessarily retire from the position. [illegible] shows that if brought to a vote, Congress would overwhelmingly refuse to pass the proposed measure of relief.

STATE DEPARTMENT.

Secretary Washburne attended to his duties at the State Department to-day. A large number of members of Congress called on him. No changes are yet announced of subordinate positions. About 12 o'clock the official notification of the acceptance of Mr. Washburne of the Secretaryship of State was forwarded to each member of the resident diplomatic corps, and invitations extended to them to call on him as soon as convenient.

EXIT BINCKLEY.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Mr. Rollins, on the 6th recommended to the President the immediate dismissal of John M. Binckley. The President to-day referred the matter to the Secretary of the Treasury, with an endorsement that the services of Mr. Binckley will be no longer required by the government. Upon which acting Secretary Hartly notified Mr. Binckley of his removal from office.

ANTICIPATING A CHANGE.

The friends of John A. Griswold, of New York, are anticipating a change in the Cabinet cast and are urgently pressing him for Secretary of the Navy.

ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

Gen. Sherman will give up the building used at present as the Headquarters of the Army and take possession of the rooms in the War Department at the earliest practicable momeut.

STANDING COMMITTEES OF SENATE.

The Senate Republican caucus this morning agreed upon the Standing Committees to be reported for the approval of that body.

IT IS A LAW.

The report that the bill providing for a grant of land to the Denver Pacific Railroad was not signed by the President, is a mistake. It is now a law.

OFFICE SEEKERS.

The number of office seekers increases. Hundreds were at the Capitol to-day. Cards were continuously sent into the Senate to call Republican members out, and when that body adjourned, the applicants rushed into the Chamber to press their business on the attention of the Senators. Apart from such proceedings, efforts are being made by subordinates in the various departmenis to procure bureau and other higher positions, in anticipation of removals.

THE LATEST ABOUT THE CABINET.

Various rumors prevailed to-day, not only at the Capitol, but throughout the city, relative to Cabinet changes. They were founded more on what politicians desired to accomplish than on any approximation to facts. It was stated in the Republican caucus to-day that President Grant would withdraw his request for the modification of the act establishing the Treasury Department, and this it was thought would necessitate the withdrawal of Mr. Stewart, and hence necessarily induce a change in the Cabinet programme. But Mr. Stewart has not retired, and the statement is made on good authority that he has been throughout in full accord with Gen. Grant; that it has been distinctly understood between them that he will not allow himself or his appointment to embarrass President Grant in the slightest degree, and if it shall be found inexpedient by Congress to relieve Mr. Stewart, it is understood he will withdraw. Mr. Stewart, however, will not recede, if he can accommodate his extensive business connections so as to obviate the difficulty, and in this view he has offered to make an absolute transfer and disposition of all profits and interests which may be derived from his business while he remains in office, the transfer to be made to three eminent gentlemen as trustees, who shall have the absolute disposal of the profits and revenues for the use of public charity in the city of New York, the trustees to select the charities and to be vested with absolute control and power in the matter, Mr. Stewart thereby to divest himself of any interest whatever in his business.

THE SUPREME COURT

delivered no opinions to-day, as had been expected.

NEW YORK CITY.

The pilot boat Josiah Johnson was run into and sunk Saturday night outside of New York Bay by the schooner Wanata. The crew were saved.

The litigation against the consolidation of the American and Merchants Union express companies came up to day before Justice Cardozo, in the case of Harris versus the Companies. Counsel for plaintiffs read voluminous papers, after which the counsel for defendants read an affidavit of the plaintiff in the case, to the effect that he had been deceived and misled; that he had no legal or equitable cause of action against the defendants, and that the suit was brought in interests adverse to the stockholders of the Merchants Union Company and at the instigation of speculators in Wall street. The Judge then, at the request of counsel for plaintiff, and by consent of defendant's counsel, postponed the case.

Henry Sallen was arrested to-day for [illegible] and a man by a forged check for [illegible], named Wm. H. Chambers for defrauding numerous tradesmen by means of bogus checks to the amount of $1,000.

The Assembly Committees to examine the affairs of the Merchants Union Express Company and the various railroads chartered by the State, have returned to Albany. The former took no testimony. The session of the latter, which was short, was held with closed doors.

Jno. T. Martin, of Brooklyn, contributed the cost of the expense of the American Methodist Theological Seminary at Frankfort-on-the-Maine, recently dedicated, amounting to about four thousand francs.

MEMPHIS, March 8.—Captain Haynes, of the Arkansas Militia, accompanied by Sergeant Brown and Finch of the Metropolitan Police, with a requisition from Governor Clayton, of Arkansas, approved by Governor Brownlow, went to Horn Lake, Missouri, twelve miles below here, yesterday, for the purpose of arresting Cub Harland, a notorious Choctaw Indian, who had fled from Arkansas. In approaching the house Cub, who evidently suspected their intention, met them at the door with a revolver in each hand and opened fire on the party, shooting Sergeant Finch through the body, producing a wound from which he died. Captain Haynes was also shot twice in the groin and dangerously wounded. Cub then fled. Brown and Captain Haynes were under the impression that they had badly wounded the Indian; but later reports state that he returned to the house where the affair occurred last night and stole two horses in revenge for his supposed betrayal. Finch was a native of Ohio and served in the Union army.

The Insurrection in Cuba—Rebellion in Mexico—Negrete Routed.

HAVANA, March 8.—The Government has made public official dispatches giving details of the advance of General Lesca from La Guanaja to Puerto Principe. On this march the heaviest engagement since the beginning of the rebellion was fought. General Lesca found the enemy to the number of four thousand strongly entrenched on the Sierra de Cubitas. Artillery was brought up and commenced a vigorous fire. Covered by the batteries a column of regular troops one thousand five hundred strong attacked the enemy's fortifications with the bayonet. Both sides fought with determination and the havoc was fearful. General Lesca reports his loss thirty-one killed and eighty wounded. The loss of the rebels is estimated at one thousand killed and wounded. The Government accounts claim a victory for Gen. Lesca, and assert that the insurgents are much disheartened by their defeat.

A detachment which left Puerto Principe for Santa Cruz, to obtain supplies brought to that port by the fleet, returned on the 2d instant with the provisions and ammunition, having made the march both ways without interruption.

The entire available strength of the rebel forces now under Quesada is estimated at seven thousand.

The steamer from Vera Cruz brings the following news: General Alatorre, in command of the national troops, came up with rebels under General Negrete, at Attasca, and after a sharp engagement routed them. General Mals was killed, and many of the rebels taken prisoners. Negrete himself escaped with a few adherents, going in a southerly direction. Gen. Bocando's cavalry are in close pursuit. Col. Procto, implicated in Negrete's movement, was captured near Vera Cruz, taken to that city, and shot. Gen. Amador also joined Negrete, but cannot be found. He probably accompanied him in his flight. The Mexican Government is sanguine of completely crushing the revolt.

The insurrection at Merida, Yucatan, is over. The ringleaders were caught and all shot.

Gen. Rosecrans, United States Minister, has frequently had private interviews with President Juarez. It is supposed that questions of great importance are under consideration between them. There is much political agitation in the Capital. The opposition accuse the President and his Cabinet of corruption, which they declare is increasing daily. They report that Lerdo De Tejado is buying up extensive and valuable properties, while Senor Romero is sending large sums of money to the United States. They also assert that Tejada is unfriendly to Romero, and is trying to have him dismissed from the Cabinet; that the influence of the former is supreme with Juarez, but that other Ministers take the part of Romero.

General Palacco has published a letter on the condition of the country, which has given rise to much excitement. He considers the administration of Juarez unequal to the task of the Government.

The Two Republics, a journal published at the Capital, manfully defends American interests, and replies with courage and vigor to the fierce attacks made on the United States by Mexican journals.

HAVANA, March 8.—The commanders of a British gunboat and French steamer, which arrived to-day, report they passed in the Bahama Channel the Peruvian monitors in tow of two steamers, with a Spanish man-of-war following in the wake.

General Puello left the town of Santo Espiritu and divided his command into three flying colums to scour the country.

The Diario reports the rebel leaders in the province of Santo Espirita have deserted their men in the Eastern department. Bands are roving between Holquim and Gibracca and are committing great depredations and outrages. They carry a rebel flag, but are disowned by the insurgents and denounced as bandits.

A steamer arrived to-day from Cienfuegos with a number of prisoners, among whom were four priests.

Sugar quiet, sales at 9⅜ reals.

Rev. W. H. Locke, A. M., pastor of the Liberty Street M. E. Church, and Rev. Dr. Nesbit, of the Christian Advocate, delivered brief, but interesting addresses. Late as the meeting was protracted, these well known ministers held the attention of the audience until the close by the interest they inspired in their speeches.

Throughout the exercises, excellent singing was interspersed under the lead of Prof. Horner, with organ accompaniment by Harry Kleber, Esq. Exercises closed with doxology and benediction.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 8, 1869.

The uncertainty as to who is to be Secretary of the Treasury, since Mr. A. T. Stewart has preferred to resign rather than having special acts passed in his favor, kept gold and bonds moving up and down to-day.

Gold, which opened before the board at 132¼ declined to 131½, and bonds opened weak, and dull at a decline of from one half to three-fourth per cent., and closed a shade better, especially for old 1862's and 1865's. Bonds are now regarded rather high for home investment, and the amounts offered on the market increase daily, and unless we have a rise in gold the European markets can not be supplied at present quotations leaving a margin for the exporter. The ease in money however is rather favorable to a further advance, as ultimately higher quotations are looked for in Europe.

Stocks have improved somewhat but the market has shown no strength so far, the tendency being for lower quotations although a weak attempt may be made to advance prices now for the sake of selling out.

Business is rather quiet as it always is on an unsettled market, in the gold premium especially, when lower quotations are expected by dealers and importers.

In local securities very little is doing towards opening of the spring trade.

Quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 131⅜; Silver, 125; Eighty-one's, 116; Five Twenties, 1862, 118⅝; do 1864, 114¼; do 1865, 116¼; do 1865, Consols, 112⅝; do 1867, 112¾; do 1868, 112¾; Ten Forties, 105¼; New York Central, 60¼; Erie, ——; Reading, 91⅜; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 118; Ohio & Mississippi, 33⅜; Michigan Southern, 96¼; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 88¾; Chicago & Rock Island, 27¼; Chicago & North Western, 81¼; Chicago & North Western Preferred, 90¼; Adams Express Company, 63¼; Merchants Union Express, 17¼; Pacific Mail, 100¼; Western Union Telegraph Company, 37; Gregory, 2,10; Quartz Hill, 76; Corydon, 10; Smith & Parmele, 1,40; Am. W. Express 45.

—Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co.: Gold, 131⅜; United States Sixes, 1881's, 116; 5-20's, 1862, 118⅝; 5-20's, 1864, 114¼; 5-20's, 1865, 116¼; 10-40's, 105¼; 5-20's Jan'y and July, 1865, 112⅝, do. 1867, 112¾; do. 1868, 112¾; Seven Thirties, par less ¼; Due Compounds, 119; Ten Forties, 105¾; Union Pacific Railroad, par; Central, 103; Cy. Pacifics, 101½.

NEW YORK, March 8, 1869.

The Express says the chief topic of conversation in financial circles to-day was the political situation at Washington. Early in the day Mr. Stewart's resignation was reported, which was quickly followed by the announcement that Mr. Boutwell would succeed him. This was succeeded by telegrams to the effect that Boutwell's chances were slim and that Stewart had requested the President to appoint David A. Wells, coupled with the report that the President had asked until to-morrow to consider the matter and that the Senate had adjourned. The latest telegrams reported great excitement in political circles at Washington. These varied reports created unsettled feeling here, and gold fluctuated frequently, while operations in Governments were checked to a great extent. The most intense interest manifested was relative to the new Cabinet and the new Secretary of the Treasurer and his policy. The question of certifying checks by banks for brokers before the funds are in bank attracted much attention. The banks have not yet received official notification of the passage of the law from the Comptroller of Currency; but many of them refused to certify to-day, while others continued the old policy. The law is likely to be evaded, as a broker in good credit may, by keeping two bank accounts, draw checks from one and deposit them in the other, provided he makes them good before the close of bank hours.

Money quiet and easy at 6@7c on call. Sterling quiet at 108¾@109 for 60 day bills, and 109⅜@109½ for sight. Gold firmer and opened at 132, fell to 131½ and closed at 131⅝. Loans were made at 4@5 per cent. for carrying to flat for borrowing. Clearances $113,000,000.

Governments opened active at a decline of ⅛ from the highest sales of Saturday, and speculative holders showed a disposition to sell, and in some cases were making engagements for future delivery. The decline in London has also checked purchases for shipment. At the afternoon board there was an improvement of ⅛@¼ per cent., and the market closed steady at an advance. Coupons '81, 116@116¼; do. '62, 118⅜@118⅝; do. '64, 114¼@114⅜; do. '65, 116⅜@116½; do. new, 112⅝@112¾; do. '67, 112⅝@112¾; 10-40s, 105¼@105½.

State bonds firmer, with advance in some cases; Missouris quoted at 89½@90; new Tennessees, 67; North Carolinas, 58¼@59; Virginias, 60@62.

Railway market opened strong, with an advance of ¼@¾ per cent. on closing rates of Saturday. The advance was not fully maintained at the morning board, but after 12 o'clock the market was again strong. New York Central and Mississippi Southern were features, the former reaching 160¾ and the latter 96⅝. Reading was also noticeably active, and touched 91¼. Next in interest were Rhode Island, Pittsburgh and North Western.

Miscellaneous and express shares were also strong. After the one o'clock board, there was a general reaction of ¼@½ per cent., but subsequently prices once more recovered from the depression, and the latest operations were at about the highest quotations of the day. Rhode Island was the great feature, and closed nearly 3 per cent. higher. A rumor that that the Legislative Committee would report in favor of the New York Central scrip dividend, was the immediate cause of the advance.

Five-thirty Prices:—Cumberland, 37½@38; Wells Express, 31¼@31½; American, 45@45½; Adams, 63¼@63½; Mercnants, 17@17¼; United States, 58; Quicksilver, 24¾@25; Canton, 59¼@60; Pacific Mail, 100¼@100¼; Western Union Telegraph, 37@37⅜; Mariposa, 17¼@17½; do. preferred, 33⅜@33⅞; New York Central, 160⅜@160¾; Erie, 36@36¼; Hudson, 137¾@138; Reading, 90¼@90½; Harlem, 135@136; Terre Haute, 36@38; pref., 65@65½; Wabash, 66¾@66¼; do. pref., 77@77½; St. Paul, 66⅛@66¼; do. preferred, 78¼@78¾; Ft. ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 8, 1869.

CATTLE—The supply was not up to that of last week, only 737 against 900, but the market seemed to drag, and there was not that bouyancy and activity which usually prevails when the number on sale is so small. The butchers, for some cause or other, did not take hold very freely, and although there was a very fair attendance, they seemed to be very timid and hesitated more than usual—perhaps they thought that by holding back they might be able to do better. As already intimated, however, all kinds of stock were held at full prices, and both buyers and sellers knew that that the number on sale was too small to expect any decline, notwithstanding, the market was a dull and sluggish one. The great proportion of the stock was from Chicago, and, as a general thing, about up to the usual standard in regard to quality.

Prime to extra Cattle may be quoted at 8@8½, good to medium at 6½@7½; and stockers at 5@6. Fresh Cows range all the way from $40@$80 per head. Bulls unchanged at 5@6.

John Kerwin sold 8 head Ohio stock on commission, at 6¾@7; Blackstock & Hazlewood 80 head, Illinois and Ohio steers, at 6¼@8¼; Hedges & Taylor 42 head mixed stock, at 5¼@8; Nicholas Carr 40 head commission stock; Smith & Blue sold 15 head cows and steers, at 5@7 cts; Greenwald & Kahn 57 head Illinois and Ohio steers at 7½@8½; S. Marks & Bro. 56 head Chicago steers, at 7¼@8¾; Jas. McAllister sold 40 head Ohio cows and steers, at 6@9 cts; Trauerman & Lobman sold 85 head; stockers, at 5½; fat cattle, at 7¼@8¼; L. & J Shamberg 52 head Chicago steers, at 6½@8½; Holmes, Lafferty & Co. 71 head mixed stock at 6,87@8,25; E. SHEEP—There was an unusually small number of Sheep on sale to-day, only, about 400 head, and with a fair retail demand the market was very firm and prices fully sustained. The demand, however, has fallen off wonderfully within the past two or three months, which is owing to the advanced prices having retired nearly all the "curb stone" butchers, they not being able to stand the advance. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, prices ranged from 4½@8 cts. per pound, gross.

Jas. Kerr sold 55 head commonish Washington Co. sheep to John McAllister at 4¼. McAllister afterwards sold the same bunch of sheep to Hoffman at 4½; Jacob Rinn reports having retailed 74 head of prime to extra, at 7@8; James Shaw sold 60 head of Penna. sheep at 5@6½; Garwin & Co. had 95 head unsold, and Stakely & Bro. also had 66 head unsold.

HOGS—The market was very quiet, the demand being light and entirely of a retail character. Prices remain about the same as last week, ranging from 11@13 cts gross—as to quality—some few choice, perhaps, brought a quarter or half more.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The dry goods trade is still unanimated, but prices for the most part were well sustained and an improved inquiry is anticipated ere long. Standard makes heavy brown sheetings, 16½@17c, for goods like Cabot A, Appleton A and Indian Head; Dwight A, 12½c; do F, 13½c; do R, 12c; do Q, 15c; Great Falls, 13c; do J, 13½c; do S S, 14c; do E, 16½c; do H, 14c; do B, 11c; do W, 9½c; do bleached R, 21; do bleached Q, 18½c; do bleached J, 14c. Printed and colored cottons in moderate request, at uniform rates. We are requested by editors of the dry goods report to correct the statement made in its last issue with regard to the failure of the firm of Austin, Dall & Co., of Baltimore and New York, as the house in the latter city, it appears, is not affected by the suspension, having assets enough to pay 100 cents on the dollar.

THE SWEET POTATO VINE.

(From Hearth and Home.)

One of the prettiest and most simple of wall decorations is a sweet potato vine. It resembles ivy in appearance, but has the peculiar advantage of growing very rapidly when once started.

It can be grown in a shaded room, and will twine about household things in a familiar and graceful way, peculiar to itself, creeping around the pictures and winding its tendrils about their cords; or clustering in window corners it will play bo-peep among the curtains in quite a charming way, and at last will send forth its pretty convolvulus flowers to brighten all the room.

If you wish to prove this pleasant fact, select an ordinary sized sweet potato and place it in a large mouthed glass jar. It is not absolutely necessary to have a glass jar, unless one wishes to watch the sprouting process, which is beautiful and interesting. Cover the potato with water nearly to its top, leaving only an inch or two uncovered, and replenishing every other day to make up for what is lost by evaporation; and in about five weeks it will begin to sprout. It requires subsequently but very little attention, it being only necessary to keep the roots constantly covered with water. The vine will be found to grow much faster when suspended in the sunshine, though it grows rapidly anywhere. Sometimes it is more convenient to place the vase containing it on a bracket against the wall. The pendent shoots will add to its pretty effect, while those which have a tendency to creep upward will soon find something to which they can cling.

Nothing in the way of ornament is more easily prepared than the sweet potato vine, nothing so well repays the little trouble it costs.

LIMA BEANS.

All will agree that there is no bean grown at all to compare with the Lima, especially when eaten green, but even as a winter bean. Used in the winter it is different from all others, from the fact that it is nearly equal in quality to what it is in its green state. But all may not know that it is the most difficult of beans to raise. Its principal enemy is a wet spring. It is of so large a size and infirm that when planted, if the weather is moist, it becomes soaked through and rots, sometimes even after it has sprouted. It not unfrequently happens that two and even three plantings are necessary and the crop fails afterwards. Sometimes a hot, dry August renders the vines barren; sometimes heavy rains just at the period of efflorescence will "do" for them.

The best mode to raise Lima beans successfully is to select a dry spot for the bed, plant the poles firmly, elevate the hills, and set the seed perpendicularly just under the surface, first greasing the seed with lard or butter. If the soil is rich and not too wet, the chances are that a good crop will be the result.

But to insure a good crop as nearly as it can be done, plant the beans in a shallow box filled with the best soil about one inch each way, say about the middle or 20th of April, place the box in a hot-bed, or in a sunny window of a constantly heated room of a house, and start the plants there. When the period arrives for transplanting—that is, when the time of probable frost is over—set them carefully out by the poles, taking as much earth with, sufficiently moist to adhere, as possible, make a hole with a round pointed stick of suitable size, and draw up the earth and press gently. Should a frost threaten, cover with old paper, straw or hay, the former being the best, as it is easier to manage, makes less dirt and can be saved for future occasions. A few clods will keep the paper covering in its place.

But this should be what might be called the early or first crop of Limas. The second crop should be planted in the usual way, and from the two it would rarely happen that enough for summer and winter use—in case the plot of ground is large enough—would not be secured.—Germantown Telegraph.

THE CUSTOM OF BEE-HUNTING

Used to be, and is yet, to some extent, a favorite pastime among the inhabitants of the Green Mountains. To hunt successfully requires a thorough knowledge of the bee and all its habits; and, therefore, like any other game, those who love the sport pride themselves upon their proficiency. The hunter starts out armed with a small box with a sliding cover, a card of honey-comb, and a small bottle of honey, molasses, or something suited to the taste of the bee. When near the locality of wild bees, he fills the comb from the honey in the bottle, places it in the bottom of the box, at the same time closing the box. The prisoner will buzz for a while, and then goes to filling his sack from the honey in the bottom of the box. The hunter then places the box in a favorable position for seeing it, and slides back the cover. Having "filled," as the hunters say, the bee flies straight to his tree, and returns to fill again, bringing others with him. Oftentimes these workers increase so rapidly that a steady stream will be seen going to and from the box, which can easily be followed to the tree at once. Frequently large deposits of honey are found in this way, which the little workers show as much bravery in defending as industry in gathering.

MANURE FOR POTATOES.

An exchange says the following receipt for raising potatoes is worth the price of any paper for one year, to any farmer that is short of manure. It is as good as as the best superphosphate of lime, and it will not cost half so much. It has been tried two years, and is good on dry land: Take one cask of lime and slack it with water, and then stir in one bushel of fine salt, and then mix in loam or ashes enough, so that it will not become mortar; it will make about five barrels. Put in half a pint in a hill at planting. All manures containing potash are particularly suitable for the potato. Ashes contain more than any other natural fertalizer, and should be freely used and carefully saved. Any farmer seeing the analysis of the ashes of potatoes, given in last week's paper, can readily imagine what fertalizer produce the greatest effect, and what the plant most needs.—N. Y. Independent.

SMUTTY CORN POISONOUS.

Several cattle have died suddenly of late in the western part of Massachusetts, which is attributed by a correspondent of the New England Homestead to their eating smutty corn, which was found in most fields the past autumn, to an unusual extent. Some cattle having died at West Springfield, Professor Gamgee, who chanced to be near at hand, was called, and decided that the disease was undoubtedly caused by the smut on the corn with which the cattle had been fed. He prescribed purgatives for the cure of the living, and thought that with proper and timely care there would be little difficulty in saving the lives of cattle which are attacked. His prescription is a pound of epsom salts, an ounce of aloes or five pounds of sulphur and two ounces of ginger, the whole mixed in water and poured down the throat of the sick animal.

HOW TO MAKE A COMPOST HEAP.

A good compost heap may be made by first providing a suitable flooring, upon which muck, dry earth or leaf mould should be spread to the depth of ten inches or a foot. As the manure is taken from the stable, place it in a layer five or six inches deep. Then more muck, and after that more manure in alternate layers, until the heap gets too high for convenience in pitching the materials upon it. After laying for two or three months, it should be forked over several times. If troughs are laid to conduct the liquids from the stable to the heap, so much the better, and the addition of hen manure, and such similar strong fertilizing matter as may be at hand, will be found very advantageous.

CURE FOR COLIC IN HORSES.

The death of Robert Bonner's Auburn horse induces a New Yorker to send the Tribune a remedy which he has never seen fail to cure colic, in horses. It is simply to drench them with a preparation of chlorine and permanganic acid, which can be procured at any drug store. He has used it and seen it used repeatedly, and has so much confidence in it that he would be willing to insure the recovery of any horse if it was administered in time.

CURING HENS OF SETTING.

We have lately seen, we forget where, an easy and rational cure. It is simply to put under the hen a few eggs just about ready to hatch; or put one or two young chickens under at the right time; take her off and put her in a box with the young chickens a few hours. then take the chickens away from her and turn her out, and in a majority of cases she will, after clucking a day or two, commence laying again, feeling in her own mind well assured that she has fulfilled the maternal instinct.

TO KEEP GATES FROM SAGGING.

Set the hanging post three and a half feet in the ground, tramp well at the bottom, on the side opposite the gate; then dig a trench six inches deep from one post to the other; in this put a 3x4 scantling, or a pole of white oak, black walnut, mulberry, or some other lasting timber, seeing that it just fills the space between the two gate posts, and cover with earth, and the gate will stand as you hang it until till the post rots off.—Rural World.

THE WOOL GROWERS of the United States would find it to their advantage to keep themselves better advised as to the classes of wool most needed by manufacturers, and arrange their flocks in accordance therewith. It is stated by competent authorities, that three-fourths blood merino wools are now grown in excess of the wants of the country, and, as a consequence, the tendency of this description is toward relatively low prices. To obviate this difficulty, and enable them to raise this staple at a better profit, it is suggested that our wool growers cross their stock with the Leicestershire breed of Canada. This would produce a hardy race of sheep, and afford a combing wool now greatly needed, and which commands relatively higher prices than any other class, realizing, in fact, two or three cents a pound more in its unwashed condition than does the three-quarter washed merino. These hints are thrown out to American wool growers, and if adopted, they can hardly fail to result in every way to their advantage.—N. Y. Commercial and Shipping List.

A CORRESPONDENT in one of our exchanges writes as follows: "I have suffered severely from potato bugs. In 1866 I tried various methods to destroy them, but with no effect. In 1867 they came on again, and I tried them again but with no avail. I then took a handful of long grass and went through each row and whipped them thoroughly, and got a fine crop. In 1868 I had no trouble with them, and raised a fair crop. Others tried the same remedy with the same success."

SOME idea of the magnitude of the American Cattle Trade may be derived from the following facts, gleaned from the Report of the Department of Agriculture for January:

Beeves received in New York 293,101.
Beeves received in Chicago, 108,537.
Beeves received in St. Louis, 40,000.
Beeves received in Boston, 118,000.
Total consumption in four cities, 559,638.

HOUSEHOLD RECEIPTS.

Calf's Pluck, with Poor Man's Sauce. We call "pluck" the membrane which envelopes and sustains the bowels of calves, lambs, &c. It is a choice dish, especially for breakfast. A calf's pluck ought to be selected that is white and fat. It is prepared in divers fashions, but, in all, the following prelude is necessary: The first thing, cleanse it very carefully; let it soak a certain time in fresh water; blanch it by letting boil up once or twice, and then plunge it immediately in cold water to freshen it. At last put it on the fire in a pot or saucepan large enough to admit plenty of water in which a handful of flour has been sprinkled; season with salt, pepper, pot herbs, onions and little carrots and cook it until thoroughly done.

Poor Man's Sauce.—Serve the pluck boiling hot with the following sauce; chop five or six green onions and parsely into a saucepan with a glass of broth and half a glass of vinegar; season with salt and pepper; boil it until the onions are done, strain and serve.—Baron Brisse.

Meat Pie.—Take of veal or mutton sufficient for a stew, season well, and potatoes, cut into medium sized pieces, savor with onions and stew until done in plenty of juice. Line a deep dish with rich crust, pour in the stew and fill in the fragments of the crust. Place a rich crust over the top, crimp the edges and form a large flower of the leavings of the crust and put on the centre of the pie. Bake to a light brown and eat while hot.

Oyster-Patties in Batter.—Make a batter with the yolk of one egg, or more, according to the quantities of oysters you intend to prepare, a little nut-meg, some beaten mace, a little flour and a little salt; dip in the oysters and fry them in lard to a nice light brown. If preferred, a little parsley may be shred very fine, and mixed with the batter. The batter may also be made thicker, and formed into the shape of a patty, or put into a small tin mould, the oyster being dropped in and covered over, and the whole baked as a pudding would be.

To Freshen Salt Fish.—Many persons who are in the habit of freshening mackerel or other salt fish, never dream, says the Household, that there is a right and a wrong way to do it. Any person who has seen the process of evaporation going on at the salt works, knows that the salt falls to the bottom. Just so it is in the pan where your mackerel or white fish lies soaking; and as it lies with the skin side down, the salt will fall to the skin and there remain; when, if placed with the flesh side down, the salt falls to the bottom of the pan, and the fish comes out freshened as it should be. In the other case it is nearly as salt as when put in.

Tripe, and How to Cook it.—Tripe is one of the most nutritions, as well as healthful articles of food we can procure. As an article of meat diet for summer, it is unsurpassed. It can be obtained in this market, put up in vinegar, either by the kit, whole or half barrel. We give below two excellent methods for cooking it.

Fried Tripe.—Cut the tripe into suitable pieces, say two inches square, dip into a batter made of eggs, flour and water, then drop into boiling lard. Cook till brown.

Tripe Rolls.—Pick the tripe up in strings; mix with a little flour, chopped onions and parsley; moisten with eggs well beaten; form a roll and drop it into hot fat. When nicely browned it is ready for the table.—Prairie Farmer.

ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by the aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years ago, an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for its sale in this country are the exclusive property of this Company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st.—That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d.—That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless

IN THE main, the changes made in the Chairmanships of the Senate Standing Committees will strike the country favorably.

OUR LATEST dispatches from Washington seem to indicate that Mr. A. T. STEWART will retain the position assigned him in President GRANT'S Cabinet, so arranging his business affairs as to enable him to qualify under the law.

MAJ. PURNAM, State Senator, and Dr. FINLAYSON, Clerk of the Court, were assassinated in the streets of Marianna, Jackson county, Florida, on the night of the 26th of February. The latter was killed outright and the former mortally wounded.

THE SURVEYS are completed for the link of railway, to connect the Pan Handle road at Dresden with the Wilmington and Cincinnati road at Zanesville. It is stated that the work is to be put under contract immediately, and the grading to be completed before August next.

THE NET PUBLIC DEBT was reduced nearly eleven millions last month. Deducting the railway bonds, the total was $2,491,399,904.38. Making the same deduction from the preceding report, the net reduction, excluding those bonds from both months, was nearly thirteen millions of dollars, or about two millions in excess of the month's issue of bonds to those corporations.

DURING the last days of his Presidential power Mr. JOHNSON proclaimed his affinity with scoundrelism by pardoning almost every man who was under sentence by the Federal Courts for crimes. President GRANT had his attention drawn to this matter, and promptly interposed to prevent the delivery of so many of the pardons as he could. Offenders will take the hint, that under the new administration they will be dealt with according to their deeds.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY has been effectually closed by a snow-blockade for a full month past, and the latest dispatches announce that the blockade is at an end. It is quite possible that the difficulties of the situation were exaggerated, by reports emanating from rival and unfriendly interests, but there is no doubt of the fact that the road was closed as stated. The situation was bad enough at the best, and suggested the general conviction that, if a mistake has been made in the location of this line, we shall do well to be better satisfied upon topographical and climatic points before putting our funds into the construction of rival lines.

THE MOVEMENT for the erection of a new State from the Northern portions of Michigan and Wisconsin is gaining in strength, a resolution to that effect having just passed the Wisconsin Senate. The division of Texas into two States awaits the approval of the people and of Congress. It is proposed to annex to Delaware all the Eastern shore of Maryland and the two peninsular counties of Virginia. Western Florida wants annexation to Alabama, and Eastern Tennessee would like to be called by some other name, with exclusive State rights of its own. But all these projects are yet a long way from success, either at home or at Washington where such schemes have ever been regarded with a chronic disfavor.

THE "Annual Report of the Directors of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb" affords a satisfactory view of the condition of that admirable charity. During the year, 226 pupils have enjoyed its advantages, 19 of whom were supported by the State of New Jersey and Delaware, 21 by their friends and 144 by the Commonwealth. Since the Institution was first established, more than eleven hundred deaf mutes have derived from it an education and a practical preparation for the duties of life. It is estimated that there are now more than fifteen thousand deaf mutes in the United States, all of whom have thus been educated, or may avail themselves of the charitable provisions of nearly every State in their behalf. The number requiring this public care in our own State steadily increases, already exceeding the provisions made by the Commonwealth, and the Directors should not ask in vain for an enlarged appropriation from the Treasury.

CONTRADICTING the "absurd story" in the American journals, that he had been "talking on the Greek question," Gen. DIX writes from Paris that he has been "steadily enjoying the luxury of silence" in accordance with "the clear duty of an American diplomatic representative to limit his action, except in extraordinary cases, to the instructions of his government." Adding that he has always insisted upon the reciprocity of the principle of non-interference in each other's affairs, between America and the European nations, the General confesses that he knows "no greater nuisance in the United States than speech-making, and that his greatest enjoyment abroad has been in his exemption from it." It is a pity that such sensible ideas have not prevailed on the other side of the Channel.

WENDELL PHILLIPS is the most merciless critic of men, measures and principles which this country has ever produced. Always in private life, his utterances have nevertheless acquired a weight equal to those of a duly constituted public censor. This has resulted from his rare intelligence, from the keenness of his discrimination, from his unswerving devotion to what he regards to be right, and the definiteness and force with which he pronounces his judgments. Yet, this man, contrary to general apprehension, entertained beforehand, endorses President GRANT'S inaugural, as not only up to the full measure of his promises, but up to requirements of the occasion. When the apostle of radicalism is contented, there would seem to be no reason why radicals of less degree should be displeased.

WHILE A PORTION of the American press construe the allusions to our foreign policy, in the Inaugural, as foreshadowing the disturbance of our friendly relations with other nations, the leading European journalists take the opposite view, and argue that the language of the President means peace. We scarcely need say that we concur in the latter interpretation. Can any body explain to us, by the bye, why it is that, when you find an American newspaper conducted by an Englishman, you will, with hardly an exception, read in it the fiercest invectives against England? There are many Irish-men, brilliant and effective writers, engaged on our press, and their occasional diatribes against the "Saxon oppressor" surprise no one. But why is it that every expatriated London cockney, who gets a chance at American types, exhausts the familiar Billingsgate in his ferocious assaults upon his native land? It might be uncharitable to insinuate that these exiles from Grub street have private griefs to avenge, yet the way they "sail in" on the Alabama question is remarkably suggestive of that idea.

THE MARCH OF EVENTS.

The Post makes, as we anticipated it would, the point that the proposed Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution is not in harmony with the declaration contained in the Chicago Platform of last year, to the effect that the question of suffrage belonged to the respective States. We admit the discrepancy; but do not see that it stands in need of extenuation. Life is a progress, and no man, unless he is without reason, and consequently incapable of intellectual movement, stands this year where he did last.

The Republican party was organized simply to resist the extension of slavery territorially, and its encroachments politically upon the spirit of liberty. No intention was entertained of going beyond these objects. But the slaveholders, in conjunction with the democratic leaders, brought on the war, and thereby forced the Republican party, and the administration it had instituted and sustained, to strike directly at slavery as hostile to the national existence and as menacing to the just rights of all classes of loyal-citizens. Here was involved a change of policy, but not of sentiment and principle. When the war closed, the Republican party had no expectation of pressing for the admission of the blacks to citizenship, and to the exercise of political rights under citizenship. But the outrages to which the blacks were subjected in many of the States, and the contempt poured upon them everywhere by the Democratic party, made it more and more apparent that it was necessary to their protection that they should be clothed with most of the attributes of citizenship worn by other classes of inhabitants.

If, then, the Republicans have built on the foundation they originally laid, a higher superstructure than they designed, the moving cause was not so much in themselves as in their opponents, and in that common tendency of the age from which it is not possible for any to escape.

Doubtless there were Republicans, considerable in absolute numbers, but a meagre minority compared to the whole, who have been ready from the beginning for any movement promising to vindicate Liberty, enlarge the number of its votaries and the domain of its supremacy. These were the sturdy pioneers, who joyfully went into the Republican movement at the start, not because it proposed to do all they wanted to have accomplished, but because it was headed in the right direction, and, under the orderings of Providence, would be likely to overstep the first limitation. The results testify to their sagacity and have crowned their hopes with large fruition.

WHAT RETRENCHMENT IMPLIES.

That the Union Pacific Railway has been rendered useless for a long distance, during a month past, by accumulated snows, is well known. That it will be constantly liable to obstruction from this cause, may reasonably be inferred. That these considerations impart peculiar weight to the general argument in favor of other railways across the continent is freely conceded. That government aid will ultimately be given to such enterprises is more than probable. But, for the present, we maintain it is the only safe policy to seek to relieve the Treasury from obligations instead of increasing the responsibilities, direct or contingent, it has to provide for. Hence, we look with no favor upon the new proposition that the Government, in lieu of issuing its own bonds in aid of railway construction, shall guarantee the payment of interest upon bonds to be issued by certain corporations. Indeed, we can perceive no essential difference between giving government bonds to those corporations, and endorsing their bonds so far as the interest is concerned. President GRANT and the Republican party stand pledged to retrenchment and economy. They gave those pledges expecting to redeem them. The President and the bulk of the party mean to make their words good. The leaks must be stopped.

When the Treasury shall be got into easy working condition; when the public debt shall be replaced at two-thirds the existing rate of interest; when the burdens of the tax-payers shall be reduced; when the waste-places of the South shall be rebuilt; and when the prosperity of the whole country shall be ensured, then it will be time enough to talk seriously of pledging the government for hundreds of millions more to help build railroads.

The new President has uttered words about the use of the veto power which the railway "rings" will do well to remember.

INTERESTED WITNESSES.

An old and inflexible rule in legal proceedings was to exclude from the witness-stand all persons having direct interest in any matter undergoing investigation. The reason for this rule was that individuals are liable to have their perceptions blinded, and their judgments warped, by connection with, or interest in, any transaction or case, and to such a degree as to render their testimony altogether unreliable and mischievous. Magistrates, lawyers, and others who have been much in courts of justice, know perfectly well that this exclusion of interested witnesses has not purified the currents of evidence constantly produced in the trial of causes. They comprehend that much honest testimony is partial, prejudiced, mistaken, and otherwise untrustworthy; and that it is not the most difficult thing conceivable to obtain testimony that is purposely corrupt. By means of mistaken evidence, it often happens that serious injustice is done. Various persons, produced as witnesses, are familiar with detached portions of a transaction; neither of them, nor all of them combined, with the whole of it. What is lacking in their knowledge is indispensable to a correct presentation of the facts. Nay, what they know is just enough to convey an entirely erroneous history of the case; and thus wrong prevails over right.

Within the last few years, in some of the States, it has been thought better to ordain that all persons having knowledge of any subject involved in litigation may be required to give testimony in relation thereto. In all instances in which witnesses are interested in the issue, their testimony is taken under that condition, that is to say, depositions are allowed much or little weight according to the reputations of the deponents, and the consistency and consequent credibility of their avowals in the special case. This is precisely the manner in which the testimony of witnesses adjudged to be disinterested, is sifted and its value determined.

Parties to a suit are naturally presumed to know all about it, extraordinary cases only excepted. In the great majority of cases the knowledge resting between them is full and complete. Is there any reason why they should not be required to disclose all they know? or why that the validity of their respective claims should be judged by their manner in detailing the material facts involved? or why they should be permitted to stand by, with closed lips, while putting forward men and women as witnesses who clearly know incomparably less of the affair than they do themselves?

So far as the experiment has been tried of compelling interested persons to become witnesses, none of the evils predicted have been experienced. It is alleged, and perhaps truly, that many parties in interest so testify as to beget a good deal more than a suspicion that they are dishonest. If such is really the fact, it must be passed to the general discredit of human nature, as well as to the special disgrace of the individuals thus exposed. But, it is surely better that persons who wrongfully arraign their fellows, or who refuse justice to them on deceitful grounds, should expose themselves in this way, instead of managing to consummate projected dishonesties by means of other witnesses who are either ignorant of the real matter in controversy or reckless as to the statements they make.

Last winter a bill was brought before the Legislature at Harrisburg, to allow interested parties to testify. This was going only part of the way, indicated above. So much would have been better than an inflexible adherence to the old rule. But the bill failed. A similar bill has been introduced during the current session, and is now pending. The members of the bar of Philadelphia have prepared and forwarded for presentation a petition earnestly urging its passage. It is fair to presume that these petitioners, from the very nature of their professional pursuits, comprehend the merits of the proposed change in all their length and breadth. Nor can it be doubted, that lawyers in this city, and elsewhere throughout the Commonwealth, who have had their attention turned to the subject, concur in the view taken thereof by their Philadelphia brethren. With deference, we beg leave to suggest that all lawyers in the State, who think well of the contemplated inovation, signify in some form their wishes to the Legislature.

TECHNICAL INSTRUCTION.

Boston is to have a Museum of Arts, including a department in which the elements of machinery shall be presented, as illustrated by working models of all the primary devices which employ force or motion. For this cabinet of elementary mechanics, very great advantages may be very justly claimed, especially for the aid it may afford to inventors, who would refer to it for rudimental information, as the writer refers to his dictionary or gazetteer.

It may be apprehended, however, that the practical success of this project will encounter some grave and, we fear, insuperable difficulties. Since they propose to dispense with such an unwieldy collection of complete model-machines as we find, at our Washington Patent office, to be really a bewildering embarrassment to inventors and the public, the question rises whether any classification of the elementary principles involved in their discoveries is likely to be satisfactory to inventors. This class of citizens would be peculiarly prone to challenge the impartiality and the discriminating judgment of the Curator and Trustees, who are to be charged with the responsibility of eliminating the new from the old in the inventions submitted, with the resulting classifications. We can easily anticipate, therefore, that the Museum will not be popular with inventors, except for its useful instruction, alike for them and for the curious world, in what may be considered the rudiments of mechanical knowledge. But it is a good long step in the right direction, and, if the discretion and capacity of its management shall be established, may eventually win the good-will of inventors and constructors, and so realize all that its friends anticipate. In any event, such a Museum cannot but prove of the greatest service to the general interests of technical science.

Washington Gossip.

The Republican journals have generally taken ground against the repeal of the law which prevents Mr. Stewart from accepting the office of Secretary of the Treasury, and to-day Republican Senators are talking the same way. The New York Post, of last evening, says that in sending a message to the Senate asking the repeal of this law, Grant has made a blunder. To-day the two New York Senators, and nearly all of those from New England, declare that they will oppose the repeal. It may be generally understood, therefore, that if Mr. Stewart wishes to be Secretary he must dispose of his importing business. This, it is believed, he can not do for some time, even if he feels disposed to do so.

Senator Williams, of Oregon, says that the wisdom of the law is conclusively proved in Mr. Stewart's case. In the general belief against the repeal, the New Yorkers are at work to press the names of Messrs. Hamilton Fish and Griswold for the vacancy to be created by Mr. Stewart's forced retirement. It appears, on official authority, that the President formally tendered to Representative Boutwell, of Massachusetts, the position of Secretary of the Interior, which that gentleman declined, as he preferred to remain in Congress.

A correspondent says: I also know that the Treasury Department was tendered to George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, Colonel McClure's friend, but declined by him on the ground of ill health.

Judge Hoar retires on a polite invitation from headquarters, that circumstances of an unusual and unexpected character have rendered his position in connection with the Cabinet very embarrassing to the President. He has, therefore, offered to relieve the latter by tendering his resignation.

It is rumored about the Capitol that Hoar is expected to resign, thus making way for Boutwell. And calculating on the withdrawal of Stewart, the appointment of Lyman Tremaine, of New York, as Attorney General, is also mentioned. There is much excitement and interest everywhere concerning the Cabinet.

There is no longer any doubt that Mr. Boutwell was offered the Interior Department by General Grant a day or two before the inauguration. He declined for the reason that he was unacquainted with the department and its requirements, and preferred to remain in the House.

ALLEGHENY SEWERAGE.

Large Meeting of Citizens—Discussion of the Proposed Law—Remonstrance Against Its Passage.

An adjourned meeting of the citizens of the Third, Fourth, Seventh and Eighth wards of Allegheny was held last evening in School House No. 5, Liberty street, Fourth ward, for the purpose of taking action in regard to the proposed act, now pending before the State Legislature, establishing a sewerage system for the city.

The attendance was much fuller than at the previous meeting and the amount of property represented quite large.

On motion, Mr. Jacob Painter was called to the Chair, and Dr. Alcorn appointed Secretary.

The President stated the object of the meeting, after which the Secretary read the old laws, together with the present one, relative to the subject.

On motion, a Committee consisting of Messrs. Burchfield, Kopp, Eggers, Callery, Behrhorst and Watters was appointed to prepare resolutions in relation to the matter under consideration.

While the Committee were preparing the resolutions Mr. Alcorn, from the Fourth ward, made a few remarks in opposition to the passage of the proposed act. He objected specially to the issue of small bonds, as contemplated in the act, contending that it would materially deteriorate the credit of the city. He also objected to the designation of all sewers twenty inches in calibre as main sewers, and levying a general assessment for the payment of their construction. He thought this would have the effect of making all sewers constructed of twenty inch calibre in order that the whole city and not the district directly benefitted would be compelled to pay for them.

Mr. Megraw said the system of sewerage must be looked at as a sanitary measure as well as a city drainage system. Every citizen was interested in having the city properly drained, whether the sewer by which this was accomplished passed in the neighborhood of his property or not. Hence the justice of the general tax. In explanation of the clause in the act designating all sewers of twenty inch calibre as main sewers, he stated that this was the maximum size of the pipes used for sewerage purposes, and anything larger than this would have to be constructed of bricks. He thought the act as approved by Councils was, with a few exceptions, a noble and just law.

Mr. Coffin was in favor of the old law, assessing upon property owners in the vicinity the damages and benefits of all sewers constructed.

Mr. Painter was opposed to the general tax. Under its provisions he thought sewers would be built everywhere through the city, and in many cases in sections which could do very well without them. He thought if a sewerage law was adopted, the citizens of each district of the city should be allowed the privilege of constructing just such ones as were needed, to be paid for by themselves.

Mr. Herman was opposed to all sewerage. He thought the city could do very well as it was. If any property owner wanted a sewer, he should build it himself.

Mr. Painter said he was opposed to consolidating with Pittsburgh when the proposition was acted upon by the people, but if the citizens were to be taxed in this manner for improvements he would rather have consolidation.

Mr. Coffin said he also objected to the bill, because it allowed no appeal. No matter how much injustice was suffered by a citizen, he was compelled to put up with it. He thought this was wrong. Every man should have the right of trial by jury under every circumstance.

The Committee now returned and presented a report, which, after being discussed and amended, was read as follows:

WHEREAS, The Councils of the City of Allegheny have lately approved of an act to be passed by the State Legislature, enacting a new sewerage law which will operate very unjustly and harshly against many of the citizens of the said city by imposing onerous taxes where no benefits are derived, therefore

Resolved, That we earnestly and respectfully request our Honorable Representatives in the State Legislature to use their utmost endeavors to defeat the same, or at least have the matter postponed for the present.

Resolved, further, That we request our City Councils to reconsider their action approving the proposed bill, and that they make such a change as will tax property only that is benefitted by sewerage.

The report of the committee, as amended, was unanimously adopted.

On motion, Messrs. Eggers and Burchfield were appointed a committee to have the resolutions forwarded to Harrisburg and presented to the City Councils.

The meeting then adjourned.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Last night Mr. Joseph Proctor, the popular tragedian, appeared in "Nick of the Woods" to a large and appreciative audience. The piece is an old one, but was presented by Mr. Proctor and the excellent company at the Opera House in a most admirable manner, and was highly entertaining to the audience. "Ambition" will be presented to-night with a good cast.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The short season of Comic English Opera, which commenced at the Academy last night, promises to be an unusually brilliant one. The Susan Galton Opera Troupe created a sensation in amusement circles in Philadelphia, and during an engagement of over four months played to full houses every night. "Litchen and Fritchen," "Bonnie Fish Wife" and "La Rose De St. Fleur" were presented to a large and select audience last night, and Miss Susan Galton, the prima donna, as well as several other members of the troupe, were repeatedly encored. To-night we are to be favored with the "Swiss Cottage," a musical burletta, with all the original music, and Offenbach's comic opera "66." The house will doubtless be crowded.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The Circus season at the Pittsburgh Theatre closed Saturday night, and the establishment will be closed until Thursday evening, when Manager Williams will open with an entire new company.

SMYTHE'S AMERICAN THEATRE.—The Victorelli Brothers whose success during the past week is unprecedented, will remain at the American one week longer. Miss Jennie Bradden is also on the bills for this week. Such attractions will doubtless draw full houses.

MUSEUM.—The original "Punch and Judy" at the Museum, is creating quite a sensation and is attracting large crowds day and evening.

FANNY JANAUSCHEK, the celebrated German Artiste, will commence an engagement of three nights at the Academy, Thursday night, when "Elizabeth" will be presented.

THE RINK.—The ice at the Rink is in excellent condition, and the lovers of the "art skatorial" are making good use of it.

HOW HOSTETTERS BITTERS CURE DYSPEPSIA.

THE WHOLE STORY IN A NUTSHELL.

The office of the stomach is to convert the food into a cream-like semi-fluid called CHYME. This is effected partly by the action of a solvent, called the gastric juice, which exudes from the coating of the stomach, and partly by a mechanical movement of that organ, which churns, as it were, the dissolving aliment. The CHYME passes from the stomach into the duodenum, or entrance to the bowels, where it is subjected to the action of the bile, and the nutritious portion of it converted into a fluid called Chyle, which eventually becomes blood.

Now, it is evident that if the great solvent, the gastric juice, is not produced in sufficient quantity, or if the mechanical action of the stomach is not sufficiently brisk, the first process of digestion will be but imperfectly performed. It is also clear that if the liver which plays such an important part in changing the nourishing portion of the chyme into the material of the blood, is congested, or in any unnatural condition, the second process will not be thoroughly accomplished. The result of the two failures is dyspepsia, complicated with biliousness.

The mode in which HOSTETTER'S BITTERS operate in such cases is this: they invigorate the cellular membrane of the stomach, which evolves the gastric juice, thereby insuring an ample sufficiency of the fluid to completely dissolve the food. They also act upon the nerves of the stomach, causing an acceleration of the mechanical movement necessary to reduce the food to a homogeneous mass. They also act specifically upon the liver, strengthening it and so enabling it to produce an ample and regular supply of bile, for the purpose of converting the nutritious particles of the Chyme into Chyle, and promote the passage through the bowels of the useless debris.

[FROM THE LONDON FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW.]

"A translation of the well-known and very valuable 'Vie Souterraine' of M. L. Simonin, by Mr. Bristow, of the Geological Survey, presenting the original work to the English public in a form more splendid than is given to most home products. The book contains three parts, of which the first is given to coal, the second to metalliferous metals, and the third to mines of precious stones. There are fourteen geological maps, some scores of illustrations of the various circumstances and processes of underground life, including the most homely, and the most tragic, and a number of colored illustrations of metals and their various compounds, that are superb in the richness and exactitude of their coloring. Nothing can surpass the sumptuousness of the volume, and the matter is as good and as interesting as the book is splendid. It should be said, perhaps, that its value as a special treatise does not all lessen the interest for the general reader."

ALLIBONE'S DICTIONARY OF AUTHORS.—Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, are about to issue the completion of Dr. Allibone's "Dictionary of English Literature, and British and American Authors,"—the first volume of which was published some years since by Mr. G. W. Childs. Persons desiring Vols. II. and III. uniform with the original edition of Vol. I., to complete their sets, are invited to send their names to the publishers.

CONSTITUTIONAL RELIGION.

The annexed extract, from Dr. Philip Schaff's lecture on the Sabbath, will interest many readers:

"The Constitution of the United States, it is true, does not make mention expressly of the existence of God, and perhaps it is a matter of regret that it does not.

"There is a society in existence laboring for amendments to the Constitution of the United States so as to insert in the preamble a recognition of God as the Almighty Ruler of nations, and the Holy Scriptures as the supreme law of the American people.

"I will not assume to question the propriety of such a movement, but I deny that the American Constitution is atheistic.

"It is one thing to ignore a thing, and another to oppose it. It is one thing to be silent about a particular thing and another to deny it.

"Now, there is a book in the Bible, the Book of Esther, where the name of God does not occur. Who will say, therefore, that this book is atheistic? So I say, that although the Constitution of the States is silent upon the subject of God and the Ruler of nations, it is far from intending to deny the great truth.

"The formers of the Constitution designed to keep it as strictly a legal instrument as possible, and to bring nothing into it which might in any way not strictly belong to it. But Christianity is incidentally recognized in the oath of office, and the subscription to it, Anno Domini, 1789, and also in the incidental recognition of the Lord's Day, it being excepted from the working days of the President in signing bills of Congress; and then again in the amendment to the Constitution in which religious liberty is proclaimed. It is proclaimed there in such a way that we must infer that it is from respect to religion, and not from disregard to it."

NEW MAGAZINES.

We have received from the publishers the March number of "Peter's (198 Broadway, New York,) Musical Review." It is, as all the numbers which have preceded it, full of interesting musical reading matter, together with three new instrumental compositions and four vocal gems, all set in clear musical type, and each worthy the price of the journal. We do not see how any lover of music can afford to be without this monthly, as it is a faithful mirror, reflecting all that is going on in the world of harmony and song, and adding with each number largely to the musical literature of the day.

THE grist mill of Messrs. Hummell & Bro., about two miles from Bethlehem, on the Mancocacy, was destroyed by fire on Monday night last. About five hundred bushels of wheat and three hundred bushels of corn were also destroyed. The mill was insured in the Dry Land Insurance Company for $5,000.

THE Jefferson county Teachers' Institute met in Brookville on the 22d ult. Among other things they resolved that they recognized the propriety of using the rod severely in extreme cases. They also imagined that they were a political convention, at least they recommended that the State Superintendent of Common Schools should urge the subject of equal taxation throughout the State.

AN old coal mine runs under part of the First ward of New Castle, and the roof of this mine partially gave way recently, causing a large portion of the upper surface to sink, carrying with it some outhouses and a stack of straw. Much fright was felt until the cause was known, and visions of earthquakes and fearful phenomena danced through the heads of persons living near the sink.

CRAIGHEAD'S barn, near Carlisle, was burnt more than a week ago by a fuse used for blasting in a neighboring quarry which, instead of bursting, flew out and alighted among the grain. The barn, a large amount of hay, 1,000 bushels of corn, 500 bushels of oats, 400 bushels of wheat and 28 head of cattle were destroyed, involving a loss of sixteen thousand dollars, on which there was an insurance of seven thousand four hundred.

FROM Wilkesbarre we learn that the explosion at the Wapwallopen Powder Mills is supposed to have been caused by the sand on the floor of the press-room and the powder coming in contact with the nails in one of the pressmen's boots. Two men were blown up to the height of seventy feet, and the limbs of one were found in the woods one hundred yards distant from his body. The loss of property is said to be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

A NEW WELL has been struck on the property of the Philadelphia and Boston Oil Company, adjoining the M'Millan Farm, in Venango county. Two or three months ago the well was struck and yielded fifteen barrels per day. It was then torpedoed up to eighty barrels per day, and on the 17th ult. the tubing was withdrawn and the well began to flow at the rate of three hundred barrels per day—an eccentricity which it has kept up until the present time.

ON Friday evening a daughter, aged about twelve years, of Mr. Hanahan, who resides in one of the houses known as "McKnight's Row," North Sixth street, was engaged in filling a coal oil lamp, while lighted, when the oil took fire and commenced burning, when the girl took her apron and put it over the flame to quench it, when she took fire and in a few minutes she was in flames and most horribly roasted before help came. The poor child lingered until yesterday morning, when death relieved her. Her sufferings were most terrible.—Reading Times.

Washington Items.

The work of renovating the White House, which badly needs a cleaning and repairing inside after the incessant wear and tear of several years, has already been commenced.

There seems to have been a general jail delivery before Andrew Johnson left office. Not only were the most of those implicated in Abraham Lincoln's assassination pardoned, but all the confiscatiou cases were dismissed from the docket. It is to be hoped the new Attorney General will look into these things.

One of the last official acts of Mr. Seward was to send to the Senate, on Thursday, a long dispatch which he had received the night previous from Reverdy Johnson, our Minister in England, in vindication of his action in negotiating the three treaties with Great Britain.

The President has ordered the tenth, thirteenth, thirty-first and one other regiment to Newport Barracks, Kentucky, and five regiments to New York, where they will be consolidated in accordance with the Army bill just passed.

Speaker Blaine will announce his committees on Thursday next.

The House has granted C. N. Taylor sixty days to take testimony in his case of contest for a seat in the House with Mr. Reading, of the Fifth District. Mr. Reading opposed any time being granted, but his own party would not sustain him, and the House refused the call of yeas and nays. In the case of Hon. Leonard Myers, a large amount of testimony was presented to the House by Hon. Charles O'Neill, and ordered to be printed: It establishes Mr. Myers' election by over five hundred majority. He will probably get his seat before April 1. The House sent the Covode and Foster case to the Election Committee, to report immediately who should have the seat, upon papers referred to Congress by Governor Geary, which prove, by sworn testimony, that Mr. Covode is elected by at least six hundred majority.

Certificate of Checks.

Be it enacted, &c., That it shall be unlawful for any officer, clerk or agent of any national bank to certify any check drawn upon said bank unless the person or company drawing said check shall have on deposit in said bank at the time such check is certified an amount of money equal to the amount specified in such check, and a check so certified by duly authorized officers shall be a good and valid obligation against such bank; and any officer, clerk or agent of any national bank violating the provisions of this act shall subject such bank to the liabilities and proceedings on the part of the Comptroller, as provided for in section fifty of the National Bank Law, approved June 3, 1864.

ONE of the saddest results of hydrophobia that we have heard of is that chronicled in the New York Sun: "Mr. Eckerson, who died of hydrophobia at Saddle river, New Jersey, had to be held by five or six men, and during his lucid intervals begged to kiss his wife, who was very ill in another part of the house. Just before his last dreadful fit he pleaded so piteously to kiss her once more before he died, that, risking the consequences, they took her to his bed. The dying man carefully wiped the froth from his face, and compressing his teeth tightly to prevent any of the poisonous saliva exuding from his mouth, kissed the lips which he had so often pressed in love and affection, and then resolutely turning away, after bidding her adieu forever, relapsed into a dreadful paroxysm and died."

FRANK HARDY and Willie Taylor, who murdered J. H. Rice, of Shamrock, Adams county, Ohio, have been arrested at Cairo. Hardy is a step-son of the murdered man, and Taylor was apprenticed to him. They are both under age. A gold watch and one hundred and fifty dollars were found on their persons. They acknowledged the crime, and confessed that while they were in a barn bottling wine they drank so freely as to become intoxicated and to cause Rice to reprimand them. Inflamed by the wine, they retorted, and, after a fierce quarrel, Hardy struck Rice on the head with a hatchet, killing him instantly. The boys then dug a hole near the barn, rifled the body of a gold watch and chain and one thousand dollars, covered the body in the hole and fled.

PETROLEUM is now used in London in vulcanizing India rubber, as it is capable of dissolving chloride of sulphur as readily as bi-sulphide of carbon. Ordinary petroleum must, however, be completely deprived of its water, by means of the addition of ten per cent. of concentrated sulphuric acid, and the two shaken rapidly together. The acid then settles and the petroleum is to be poured off into a very dry receiver, and caustic lime added to the petroleum, as well as some oxide of maganese, and distilled. The petroleum so prepared is, on the one hand, cheaper, and on the other, much less injurious to the health of the workmen than the bi-sulphide of carbon.

THE counterfeit swindlers are now located in Illinois. They send a note to their victim, inclosing a genuine twenty-five cent piece of postal currency as a "sample" and offer to sell the same at counterfeiter's prices. The victim tries it at a bank, and finds it a sure thing and safe. He sends on $10 to $30 for four times the amount in counterfeits. That is the last he hears of the matter.

—In Chicago, early on Saturday morning, Christian Laurenstein committed suicide from a very singular cause. He was a tailor from Philadelphia, out of work. Returning from the fire Friday night, he remarked that little sympathy was shown for the families of the burned firemen, and that he would not live in such a city, but would kill himself. His companions laughed, thinking him jesting, but on Saturday morning he was found dead, with his throat cut.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 8, 1869.

The general markets are quiet and devoid of anything that is really new or important. The demand for almost everything continues light and confined mainly to supplying immediate wants while prices, generally, have undergone no quotable change. Provisions continue weak and rather panicky, both in Cincinnati and Chicago, and the decline in those markets is beginning to have some influence here. Sugars continue weak and drooping, and standard hards are said to have been offered in New York to-day at 18, a decline of about three cents per lb. Grain and Flour continue dull and neglected, but without quotable change.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

The market, although quiet, with a comparatively light volume of business, in the aggregate, is firm nevertheless, with considerable inquiry both for present and future delivery, and prices, particularly for Crude, are firm with an upward tendency. The operations in Refined in this market continue light, which is in consequence of an unwillingness on the part of refiners to sell at present quotations. It was reported, however, that some parties in New York sold considerable "short" to-day, for the purpose of breaking the market, but whether they will be successful or not time alone will develop. The shipments East continue insignificant, and as a consequence the stocks in the East are comparatively light; and, owing to the fact that Crude is relatively higher than Refined, there is but little Refined being made.

CRUDE.—The market was fairly active to-day, the sales aggregating fourteen thousand barrels, and with a stronger feeling and considerable inquiry, prices, if anything, are a shade better than last week. We can report 2,000 bbls, seller till July 1st, at 16¾; 5,000, seller till August 1st, at 16¾; 2,000 till Sept. 1st, at 17; and 500 each March to December at $7 per bbl. delivered on cars at Oil City. April to December, 500 or 1,000 per month, was quoted at 18@18¼ delivered here.

REFINED.—There was but little done in refined to-day, though the market is firm and prices fully sustained. Sales of three lines, March to July, two of five hundred and one of one thousand, all at 36½. March last half, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 35@35½.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is about stationary at this point with three and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. The weather has moderated somewhat and the indications last evening were equally favorable for rain or snow.

The Julia No. 2, for Zanesville, is the only arrival we have to report. She departs again to-day, at 4 P. M.

The Parkersburg packet Grey Eagle, is laid up at Rochester, and the Kate Putnam, from Nashville, is laid up at Rochester.

The following boats are receiving freight for the points named but will not venture out until there is a rise: R. C. Grey for Cincinnati and Louisville; Camelia for Nashville; Bellevernon for New Orleans; Silver Lake No. 4, for Alton; Maggie Hays for St. Louis; and Sallie and Messenger for Missouri River.

The Bayard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, but it is not likely that she will be able to get up, owing to the low water.

—The tug Nettie Jones has been released.

—The Mollie Hambleton ran into the Julia at Hickman, and damaged her afterguards considerably.

—The Government lost a million dollars' worth of property last year by the sinking of steamboats on the Missouri River.

—Judgments were rendered at St. Louis on Thursday, in favor of R. Mitchell & Co., for $3,641, and Geo. Price & Co., against the steamer Magnolia, for goods furnished the boat. A motion for a new trial was filed.

—The safe of the Mittie Stevens has been recovered and turned over to the insurance agents at Shreveport. It supposed to contain a large sum of money. Up to the 18th inst. 33 bodies had been recovered from the wreck and buried.

—The St. Louis Republican of Friday says: Captain Tom Rea's new steamer, Silver Bow, is due to-day. She is said to have one of the best trips that ever came out of the Ohio. She goes to Omaha, and on her return will load for Benton..... Captain G. W. Ebert's new sternwheel steamer, Mollie Ebert, made her first appearance at the St. Louis wharf yesterday morning. She appears to be a fine specimen of marine architecture.

—The Vicksburg Times says: A passenger by the Pargoud on her last trip down held a watch over her from Fort Adams to Red River landing. Result—11½ miles in 57½ minutes. Passengers who can retain their breath at this rate of speed will get ready to leave by this renowned packet to-morrow evening. The Arkansas "stumped her toe" a short distance below the city; and was here all day yesterday repairing. We understand that it was her stem that was damaged.

—The attention of steamboatmen is directed to the following acts of Congress regulating the carrying of combustible material: And be it further enacted, That cotton, hemp, hay, straw, or other easily ignitable commodity, shall not be carried on the deck or guard of any steamer carrying passengers, except on ferryboats crossing rivers, and then only on the sterns of such boats, unless the same shall be protected by a complete and suitable covering of canvass or other other proper material, to prevent ignition from sparks, under a penalty of one hundred dollars for each offense. Nor shall coal oil or crude petroleum be hereafter carried on such steamers, except on the decks or guards thereof, or in open holds where a free circulation of air is secured, and at such distance from the furnaces or fire as may be prescribed by any supervisors (supervising), inspector or any local board of inspectors.

Lodged.—The Sheriff of Warren county yesterday lodged in the Western Penitentiary a prisoner sentenced four years for rape on a little girl.

The Courts.—The United States and the several county Courts adjourned yesterday morning without transacting any business, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Chas. Shaler.

Wife Desertion.—Anthony Daisy was committed to jail yesterday by Mayor Drum, on an information for desertion, made against him by his wife. Daisy was formally employed as sweeper of the Allegheny market house.

Ankle Broken.—On Sunday evening Mr. Bartberger, the well known architect, while walking along Grant street, near Fifth avenue, slipped and fell, breaking his ankle by the force of the fall. After being taken into Abel's drug store and receiving medical attention, he was removed to his residence in Allegheny.

Two Informations.—Matilda Melton lodged two informations, before Alderman Lynch, yesterday, against Sarah Bradford, one for assault and battery and the other for surety of the peace. The offenses consisted in striking her with a clothes prop on the head and threatening to take her life before sunrise the next morning. Warrants were issued.

Felonious Assault.—Patrick Arnold made information before Alderman Lynch, yesterday, against John Scanlon for felonious assault. Arnold is employed at the coke ovens near the copper works, and Scanlon in one of the mills in the vicinity. The prosecutor states that for some trifling offence the accused after striking him with his fist, picked up an axe and poker and threatened to make him oblivious to all sublunary things. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Scanlon.

Examination and Closing Exercises of the Pittsburgh Female College.

The examination of the classes of the Pittsburgh Female College will commence this morning and continue on Wednesday and Thursday. The contest for the President's Prize for the best essay, which annually affords so much genuine intellectual entertainment, will take place in the College Chapel on Friday evening, and inasmuch as the programme embraces a number of vocal and instrumental musical performances, an unusual treat may be expected. The friends and patrons of the institution are respectfully invited to be present.

Liquor Cases.

David Aiken made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday against William Pettiford for selling liquor on Sunday. The accused keeps a saloon on Liberty street, near Smithfield. A warrant was issued.

William E. Ally lodged three informations before Alderman Lynch yesterday against Christian Miller for selling liquor on Sunday. The dates at which the offenses were committed were December 6th and 13th, 1868, and March 7th, 1869. The accused was arrested and paid the fine of $50 on each of the two first offenses and costs of prosecution. On the last information Miller was held for a further hearing.

Disorderly Passengers.

John Gibbons and Andrew Jenkins were arrested in Allegheny, Sunday evening, for acting in a disorderly manner on a car of the Manchester Passenger Railway, Troy Hill branch. The accused entered the car at the station on Ohio street and took possession of both seats by laying down upon them, and when remonstrated with by the conductor threatened to whip him. Not wishing to have a disturbance the conductor promptly had the rowdies arrested. After spending a night in the lock-up, Jenkins was fined fifteen dollars, (it appearing that he was the most disorderly) and Gibbons five dollars. They paid the fines and were discharged.

Till Tapping.

Anna Sigwalth, proprietress of a drinking saloon in East Birmingham, made information before Justice Heisel yesterday against Samuel Griffith and Anton Bend for larceny. The prosecutrix states that the accused came into her saloon on Saturday night and created a row with some others in the room, and during the confusion robbed the money drawer of its contents. George Hartman, one of the parties in the room at the time, also made information against Griffith for the larceny of his pocket-book, which fell out on the floor while the fight was going on. The accused were arrested and after a hearing commited for trial in default of $300 bail in each case.

The Whiting-Dignum Case.

In the proceedings of the Whiting-Dignum habeas corpus case, the name of the little girl, Anna May Whiting, figured as a "pauper." In order to correct any misapprehension, we would state that the child had, with her grandfather, Mr. James Dignum, a gentleman of means and high respectability, a comfortable, good home, and was adopted as a member of the family. Had she been permitted to remain with them she would have been brought up properly, educated and well cared for, and it was not a belief to the contrary that urged the father of the child to remove her from the home into which she was adopted. She was much attached to her grandmother and grandfather Dignum and wept bitterly at the final separation, and her grief was only equalled by that of those from whose shelter she was taken.

Imprisonment For Poverty.

In our item headed as above yesterday, perhaps the reader may have derived a false impression, one tending to censure Mr. Fortune, the Secretary of the Guardians of the Poor. Such was not our intention, as we believe that gentleman to be prompt in the discharge of his duties and humane and generous in the treatment of the unfortunate falling under his charge. In the case cited yesterday, the Secretary called at the tombs immediately after receiving the notification, and rightly judging it neither pressing nor dangerous, preferred delaying a day that the injured man might be sent to the City Farm rather than to a hospital, where it would be an expensive matter to keep him, and where he would receive no better treatment. While in the tombs, by order of the Secretary, the man had meals furnished him, and was comfortably provided for. In the other case cited, provision was at once made for the insane man referred to, the gentleman with whom he had boarded promising to remove him to his house immediately, but failing to keep his word or to notify Mr. Fortune, the retention of the sufferer in the tombs was the consequence.

HON. CHAS. SHALER.

Meeting of the Bar—Respect—Tributes to the Resolutions of Deceased—Arrival of the Remains—Memory of Deceased—Funeral Services—Burial of the Remains—Funeral, &c.

The funeral of the late Hon. Chas. Shaler, which took place from Trinity Church, Sixth avenue, yesterday evening, created a greater interest than perhaps any event of its character that has ever occurred in this city. A meeting of the Masonic Fraternity was held at Masonic Hall, Sunday, to make arrangements to attend the funeral, the proceedings of which we published yesterday, and an informal meeting of the members of the bar of the several Courts was held in the District Court Room Saturday, for the same purpose. The Courts all adjourned Saturday, out of respect to the memory of the deceased and a formal meeting of the members of the bar and the Judges of the several Courts was held yesterday morning, the proceedings of which we append:

MEETING OF THE BAR.

The members of the bar entire assembled in the District Court room at nine o'clock, yesterday morning, when, on motion, Hon. Wilson McCandless was called to the Chair, Hons. M. Hampton, J. P. Sterrett and Thomas Mellon, chosen Vice Presidents, and Hons. John M. Kirkpatrick and E. H. Stowe, appointed as Secretaries.

Judge McCandless then stated the object for which the meeting had been convened, and in a brief address referred, in an eloquent and feeling manner, to the virtues of the deceased.

RESOLUTIONS.

Thomas MacConnell, Esq., Chairman of the Committee appointed at the informal meeting of the bar on Saturday, presented the following resolutions, which, at the request of the gentleman, were read by Hon. John M. Kirkpatrick.

WHEREAS, We the members of the Pittsburgh Bench and Bar have had communicated to us the sad intelligence of the sudden death of the venerable Charles Shaler, the oldest member of the Bench and Bar, in the eighty-first year of his age, and the fifty-sixth since his admission to this Bar, all which period, except some three years last past, has been devoted in this city to an active and successful professional life, about one-half on the Bench, the other at the Bar, being therefore assembled in joint meeting, we have unanimously

Resolved, 1st. That we desire to testify our high appreciation of the urbanity, kindness and gentlemanly courtesy which ever characterized his intercourse with our profession, especially with the younger members thereof, during his entire professional life. In all which respects he was the model Lawyer and Judge, the polished gentleman and intelligent Christian.

2d. That in the late Judge Shaler we had the remarkable example of our American institutions in a Judge's having successfully presided in three Courts, the Mayor's Court of the city, the Common Pleas and District Courts of the county, until he had nearly reached his three-score, voluntarily retiring from the Bench and again returning to an active general practice at the Bar, and continuing therein until, on the verge of four-score, his loss of sight forced him to relinquish his profession.

3d. That in token of our esteem for his memory the Judges of all our courts are requested to adjourn for to-day, and that the Bench and the Bar in a body attend the funeral and wear the customary badge of mourning for the ensuing thirty days.

4th. That the Judges are requested to order these resolutions entered upon the minutes of their respective Courts, and that by the Committee a copy of the same properly attested be transmitted to the family of the deceased, and published in the papers of this city.

5th. That ——— ——— be appointed to deliver an address upon the life and professional character of the Honorable Charles Shaler, together with the history and organization of the courts with which he was connected.

ADDRESS BY R. BIDDLE ROBERTS, ESQ.

Pending the adoption of the resolutions, R. Biddle Roberts, Esq., delivered the following able address:

I have been asked by the committee, Mr. President, to say a word or two in support of the resolutions that have just been read. The task is no easy one. To describe Judge Shaler to those who did not know him, is impossible; to say a word of eulogy before the bar of Allegheny county as to his past life and eminently spotless personal and professional character, were a work indeed supererogatory; and in this presence—this crowded assemblage of his late associates, so honorable alike to ourselves and to him—I shall content myself with a few simple words.

Charles Shaler was born in Middletown, Connecticut, in the house in which his father had been born before him, and in which his aged sister now resides. Springing from the hardy stock of New England, the activity of his after life was in consonance with the fine physical and mental organization which he thus derived. He received a liberal education, graduating at Union College, in Schenectady, New York, under the preceptorship of the celebrated Dr. Nott, and it was a subject of great pleasure to him of late years to point to a photograph representing seven of the graduating class of his year, who assembled at Schenectady and paid their respects to Dr. Nott on the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation.

Judge Shaler was selected when a mere boy and sent by Mr. Madison to carry the declaration of war to the army of General Hull, which was then encamped on the banks of the Maumee. Carried thus at an early period to the charming and attractive scenes of western life, the sterile soil and bleak hills of New England possessed for him no longer any charm, and he determined to settle in the West. He finished his legal studies, which had been commenced in the State of New York, in Ohio; and about 1812 or 1813 he took up his permanent residence in this city and married into the family of the late Major Kirkpatrick. The first Mrs. Shaler dying in early life, several years afterwards Judge Shaler married the daughter of the late Judge Riddle, who now survives him, the last surviving member, I believe, of that remarkable and talented family. Judge Shaler commenced his career at our bar amid the most inspiring auspices, all save the ability of those with whom at that day he had to cope. Professionally, sir, we had mental giants then; the bar of our county was not exceeded in professional ability by any in the State, and young Shaler had to fight his way forward to success amid such men as Parker, Campbell, Steele, Sample, James Ross and Henry Baldwin, and in a later day with the shining talents of a Wilkins and the resplendent genius of a Forward. He was at one time Recorder of the city, and upon the promotion of Judge Wilkins from the President Judgeship of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county to the District Judgeship of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania, Judge Shaler succeeded him, and discharged for many years the duties of President Judge of the district then composed of the counties of Allegheny, Beaver, Butler and Washington, with marked acceptability to the entire district. This position he subsequently resigned and again came to the bar, and upon the creation of the office of Assistant Judge of the District Court of Allegheny county, he was again elevated to the bench, and became the associate of Judge Grier. This position he again resigned and again came to the bar, and again resumed with his wonted vigor the trying duties of an active practitioner. The only official station which he subsequently accepted was that of Attorney of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania, which he held during the administration of President Pierce.

For a period of over forty years Judge Shaler was thus intimately associated with the people of Allegheny and the adjoining counties, and more especially with our own bar. He was emphatically what may be termed a true man—energetic in action, fertile in expedient, eloquent in diction—his powers as an advocate were transcendant and unequaled. Day after day, in the several courts, from the lowest to the highest, he discharged every professional duty with a fearlessness, fidelity and an ability rarely, if ever, equaled. He identified himself with his client and tried his cause with the enthusiasm of youth, and he laid down his professional weapons at the close of a cause with a grace and candor ness and personal kindness worthy of all imitation. His celebrated opinion on the rights of Attorneys, adopted by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, furnishes us with a beautiful description of his views of the sacred character and duties to our clients, comparing the latter of ear he does, "to the relation that subsists between husband and wife, parent and child, guardian and ward."

Judge Shaler, as a politician, developed the same characteristics as in every other phase of life. He was active in every party. He was loyal to his friends if he shared her offices, was in its defense, and without political degradation honors he did it

"Too fond of the right to pursue the expedient,"

His path of life was never strewn with broken promises or violated pledges. Judge Shaler was a pious man—an earnest Episcopalian, and true to his character. Whether we contemplate an active as a Christian gentleman, the eminent politician, an upright Judge or sional representative of professional honor, we cannot fail to admire it. He was eminently a gentleman in the broad and proper acceptation of that much-abused term; a gentleman in his appearance and in his bearing, and above and beyond and better than all, a gentleman in every impulse, in every instinct. It were perhaps wrong to invade the social circle, but there Judge Shaler shone pre-eminent—a kind father, a devoted husband, a warm and genial and generous friend. There his colloquial powers gushed out with all their sparkling wit, force and beauty.

"His humor as gay as the fire fly's light,
Played round every subject and shone as it played;
His wit in the combat as gentle as bright,
Ne'er carried a heart stain away on its blade."

As is known to you all, a terrible affliction compelled him to retire from the bar—an affliction which he bore with a heroism as remarkable as his character. While the light of Heaven was shut out, his intellect beamed with its wonted brilliancy, and through the kindness of those around him he kept himself thoroughly advised of the current topics of the day, upon which he conversed with fluency and ease. For a few years past he has resided in Bellefonte, and some weeks since he went to Newark, N. J., to make a visit to his son-in-law. While there he was stricken down and expired on Friday last, surrounded by his family and friends.

He is gone. Charles Shaler is no more. The pure man, the upright Judge, the lofty and accomplished professional advocate, the earnest politician, the sincere christian, has passed away. May his example live amongst us forever.

At the conclusion of Mr. Roberts address A. W. Foster Esq., addressed the meeting in an able and eloquent manner, speaking in glowing terms of the worth of the deceased.

ADDRESS BY JOHN H. HAMPTON, ESQ.

John H. Hampton, Esq., then addressed the meeting as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN—The tribute of respect we are about to pay to the memory and virtues of the late Judge Shaler is as worthily bestowed by the bar as it is merited by him. He has run his course through the trials and sorrows of life, closed a long and eventful career, and sunk to sleep at a ripe old age, crowned with honor and beloved by us all. The infirmities of age had not impaired the clearness of his intellect nor had time taken from him the vivacity of his nature as warm as it was sincere.

His mental vigor outlived its habitation, and left it only when crumbling to ruin. The light burned brightly down to the very socket and flashed quickly out, but its parting rays reflected back over a pathway, memorable for honor and usefulness. And now as we are about to behold him placed in that narrow home appointed for all the living, let us bear true witness to his exact worth as a man; his noble qualities and eminent abilities as a member of our profession. For when such as he die, justice loses one of her chief advocates and her suitors one of their great defenders. Fame has no greener chaplet for the brow of man, than that which she weaves for him who stands in the forum, and through the storms and battles of life, contends with poverty and neglect, and rises up grandly by persistent effort and unswerving integrity to distinction, becoming at last the protector of the injured and the helpless, and the embodiment of all that learning can ennoble or an unspotted life make worthy of renown. So rose, so struggled, so triumphed he, whose journey is ended. Let us place this fadeless garland upon his silvered head and honored brow, while sorrow over him drops her parting tear.

But before the cold sod presses his bosom, nay while we can almost now see him enter yon door and survey this sad scene, let us call to mind the striking elements of his character, and the rare attainments which placed him in the front rank of his profession, and won him distinction both on the bench and at the bar. For he was as pure on the one as he was distinguished at the other, and has left for emulation a name worthy to be cherished and admired. Poor at the beginning of his career, as most successful lawyers have been, he rose to honor and took rank among the leaders of the bar. With a firm determination to find success in life, and an exalted place in his chosen avocation, he left his home in New England and came here, being admitted to our bar in 1812. Passing through many privations and discouragements in his beginning, incident to the career of a stranger, he finally, by an industry as untiring as his will was resolute, rose to position and became the compeer of Wilkins, Baldwin, Forward, Ross and Biddle, men gifted with extraordinary powers and lawyers of surpassing ability. Thrown into conflict with them, he grew strong in the arduous struggle, and became their equal. But his success was not surprising, for nature had given him rare endowments which study and culture adorned and strengthened. Then, and until his recent retirement from the bar, his mind was quick, penetrating and clear; his judgment calm and rarely at fault; his thought methodical and to the point. It was characteristic of him, that he relied not too much upon his natural resources, as many are prone to do, but was a patient and thorough student, rising early to his labors and assiduously following up the subject of his inquiry, as far up as he pressed onward to the gathering upon which he planted his standard of learning. Whatever question of law in Court, was presented he discussed and force, and supported with clearness quotations from the reports and standard works of the profession, and no man ever heard one of his splendid efforts that did not feel that a master mind had planned the argument and a master hand put together the material of its structure. Whoever assaulted it had a perilous undertaking, for it stood defiant like a strong tower built upon a deep foundation.

In the trial of cases he was a dangerous antagonist, for he was a cool and adroit tactician, planned his attack thoroughly and covered his defense with no unsubstantial technicalities. He possessed a wit of a stinging and polished kind, if not rude in its exhibition, but exceedingly cutting and deadly in its thrust. Who that has ever heard him before a jury, upon the foible of an unreliable witness, can ever forget his sharp and severe excoriations, and the withering rebuke he could utter, just in the right way, and at the turning point of his case? His logic was, however, as direct as his satire, and both alike were his familiar weapons when a great effort was necessary to achieve success. But in the heat of debate, though quick of temper, he was dignified and courteous, and dealt fairly with his adversary, at the same time showing a marked difference to the Court now rarely seen. Such conduct, however, was not studied. A more kind, amiable and excellent disposition falls to the lot of few men. His heart was full of tenderness and affection; his attachments were ardent; his resentments few. In his intercourse with the bar, he was all that politeness could require, and more than ordinary courtesy could ask. For the young aspirant toiling along the weary way of professional life, he had a smile of encouragement and a hand of help. If applied to for information upon an intricate subject, he opened the storehouse of his knowledge and experience and gave out all he had. He sent no one empty away. His library was a resort for the junior members of the profession, who looked upon him as a father, and felt guilty of no intrusion when accepting his kindness. Added to these winning traits he was a gentleman in its truest sense and well worthy of imitation. Straight, even in his old age, as the arrow he drew from his quiver, pleasing in his address and delivery, affable, modest and scrupulously neat in his person and apparel, he was a noble specimen of a polished gentleman and an able lawyer. He was, morover, entirely unselfish. The love of money had never thrust its poisonous root into his bosom, for there was no soil to nurture it there. He loved and followed his profession as a science, at once attractive and noble, without degrading it to the base use of mere money-getting, esteeming it more honorable to be eminent in his vocation, than rich and unlearned. His honor was as untarnished at the hour of his death as it had been throughout his long professional carreer, for he led a pure and blameless life, scorning to yield to the blandishments and allurements that too often lead others astray.

In all the relations of life, he exhibited traits of character that endeared him to a large circle of relatives and friends, who must now with sorrow see him consigned to the tomb. His eventful career has closed, but how joyful for them to contemplate it, filled with good deeds and precious with sacred memories. His intellect to the time of his departure was clear and strong, and well may it be said of him—

"He looked in years, but in his years were seen,
A youthful vigor, an autumnal green."

In the ripeness of age, and fullness of honors, he descends to his rest followed by the tears of a saddened household, whose grief is shared alike by the Bar and the community in which so long he had lived. Peace to the ashes of him who thus passes away.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hampton's remarks B. F. Lucas, Esq., addressed the meeting. He said it would be more gratifying to him to hear some one else, who, perhaps, knew Judge Shaler for a much longer time than he had, eulogize him, but he felt it his duty to add his testimony to what had been already said of his virtues. He had known the deceased under different circumstances from what those who had already spoken of him had, and he could say heartily that he knew him to be an honest man.

At the conclusion of Mr. Lucas' remarks the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

On motion of A. W. Foster, Esq., it was resolved that the members of the bar and judges of the several Courts, assemble at the Court House at one o'clock P. M., and proceed thence to the Union Depot, to receive the remains of the deceased and escort them to Trinity Church.

On motion of Hon. T. J. Bigham, the officers of the meeting were authorized to fill the blank in the last resolution, by appointing a person to deliver an address on the profession and character of the deceased, together with the history and organization of the Courts with which he was connected.

AT THE DEPOT.

A large number of persons had assembled at the Union Depot awaiting, the arrival of the train upon which the remains were expected. The train for some reason was detained and did not arrive until three o'clock, almost an hour later than when it was expected. The corpse, accompanied by the friends, were in a special car, and as soon after its arrival as possible the remains, which were enclosed in an elegant rosewood coffin, were taken in charge by the pall bearers, twenty in number, appointed by the Masonic fraternity, and carried through the depot, followed by the friends and members of the bar to the front entrance, where a hearse awaited the corpse and a number of carriages to carry the friends and pall bearers.

TRINITY CHURCH.

On arriving at the church the remains were met at the entrance by the four officiating clergymen in surplice, Rev. Mr. Scarborough, Rector of Trinity Church, Rev. Abel Kerfoot, Assistant, Rev. Dr. Preston, Rector of St. Andrews, and Rev. Mr. Crumpton, of St. Paul's, and were by them conducted to the church railing. The first portion of the Episcopal burial services were then read, after which the remains were replaced in the hearse and escorted to Allegheny Cemetery, where they were interred with Masonic rites. Over five hundred members of the Masonic fraternity joined in the procession, many of whom accompanied the solemn cortege to the cemetery. The procession was an unusually large one, and the services both at the church and at the grave were of a very solemn and impressive nature.

Alleged Rape—Hearing in the Case.

James Brown and John Patterson, two young men residents of Allegheny, were arrested and taken before Mayor Drum last evening, on an information for rape made against them by Mary Ann Watson. The prosecutrix alleges that the defendants on Saturday night came to the house of Moses Trible, at the head of Federal street, Second ward, where she was stopping for the night, and after terrifying Treble by their threats, accomplished the purpose of their visit by outraging her person. They then, according to the allegations, commenced an onslaught on the house, and tore down several pictures from the walls, discharged a loaded gun which they discovered on the premises, and otherwise acted in an outrageous manner. Trimble is a colored man and the prosecutrix a white woman. She seems to have a bad reputation, which was rather confirmed by her appearance at the hearing in an intoxicated condition. After listening to the evidence in the case, the Mayor discharged the accused on the information for rape, but fined them ten dollars and costs each for disorderly conduct. The woman he committed to jail for thirty days for drunkenness. The men paid the fines imposed and were dismissed.

The New Market Houses.

The action of the Market Committee of City Councils looking towards the establishment of a new market place in some locality where it will prove convenient to the people residing in the upper wards of the city, has met with unqualified approval from all of the citizens residing in these localities. Several sites have been proposed for the new market house but of course in the absence of any authority from Councils to locate the proposed convenience, the Committee has been powerless to do anything more than listen to suggestions made. It is probable that the City Fathers will hold a meeting this week, at which the subject will be brought up and discussed. At the last meeting a petition for a market house was received from Lawrenceville and referred to the Committee. It has not yet been acted upon, but will in all probability be favorably endorsed and returned to Councils, as there is an equal necessity for a market place in or near Lawrenceville as anywhere else.

Mr. A. T. Stewart.

The Merchant Prince, who is able to buy and set up a little country of his own, made all of his wealth by close attention to business, industry, and enterprise; it is just on such a basis as Liebler, the popular trunk manufacturer, has always rested his business, and while he makes too small profits to ever grow as wealthy as Stewart, still he has the satisfaction of driving a large trade. His trunks and valises are recognized as the very best in the market, and are everywhere regarded as the most superior articles produced in the country. Of course all of our readers know that Liebler's Premium Trunk Factory is at No. 104 Wood street. An excellent spring stock has just been opened, to which we would direct the attention of our readers.

GENUINE

GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP,

Manufactured by PETER SQUIRE, 227 Oxford street, London.

This soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent.) It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin.

On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common soaps; for delicate skins it is the only soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins where the irritation produced by ordinary soaps causes so much inconvenience.

It is the most agreeable shaving soap that can be used, leaving the face soft and comfortable.

The soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface, and the genuine will be distinguished from the spurious by the sweet taste. AGENT,
